

FINE CLOTHING—M. GUTMAN & CO.

Your Wife Will Leave You

If you wear that old suit much longer. It looks so worn and shabby and has no more style about it than a cord of wood. You would not be a bad looking fellow at all if you wore one of Gutman's Nobby New Spring Suits.

Time was when men wore clothes to cover their nakedness. They wear them now to be fashionable. That restless, evanescent unknown quantity, STYLE, when shown in the cut of a coat makes men distinguished.

THE NINTH ANNUAL.

All the Butchers in the Country to Meet Here To-day.

LARGE DELEGATIONS ARRIVED

Yesterday Afternoon and Last Evening, and Were Received with Honors by the Local Association—The City Puts on its Gay Attire in Their Honor—The Names of Those Here so Far From All Parts of the Country.

The ninth annual convention of the Butchers' National Protective Association of the United States will convene in the Butchers' hall, on Chapline street, at 10:30 this morning. This will be the most important session since the organization of the association in 1886. The national association is composed chiefly of the butchers, south and west, while the eastern butchers, notably in Connecticut, have a state organization, to which the other associations are subordinate. The associations in other eastern states are simply local affairs. It is now proposed to consolidate the Connecticut association with the national association, and for that reason a good delegation has arrived from the state celebrated in history, for its wooden nutmegs. There is no question about the consolidation, as both associations are alive to the fact, that something must be done for self protection and that quickly. It is thought this will prove the nucleus for a monster association, which shall cover every section. It is also probable that the secret society methods of the Connecticut association will be adopted. Another important matter that will be discussed and settled at this session, is whether wholesale butchers shall be allowed membership. It is a mooted question, and there are various opinions regarding the matter. It would seem good policy to retain the wholesalers, for if they deviate from the rules they could be disciplined as the Grocers' Association did one of the packers in Kansas City. Several associations have already moved in the matter. The St. Louis association decided several months ago to exclude the wholesalers from membership.

THE FIRST DELEGATES

to arrive were those from Burlington, Iowa, who came Sunday and were followed by those from New York and Connecticut who arrived yesterday morning. At 5 o'clock last evening members of the Wheeling association and delegates, headed by the Opera House band, marched from the Windsor Hotel, down Main street to the railway station to meet the delegates expected from the west at 5:25. This train brought delegates from Missouri, Ohio, Indiana and Texas. There are many more yet to arrive and President D. J. Shaw and delegation from Fort Wayne, Ind., will not arrive until 10:40 this morning.

Last evening the work of decorating business houses about town in honor of the visitors began, and it looks as if by this morning Wheeling will present as brilliant an appearance as on the occasion of the famous Big Renison in 1887. Some of the decorations already up are beautiful.

The big parade occurs to-morrow, and for that reason the Second ward market will not be held to-morrow morning, but this evening instead.

Delegates here are as follows:

The Wheeling Association have nearly $3,000 in the treasury.

The delegates this evening will attend the concert at Mozart Park.

In the United States there are about 155,000 persons that handle meats.

The St. Louis boys are great for silk ties. Chris Brokate is always in style.

The steer that Champion Mullin will dress at the fair grounds weighs about 1,600.

The Wheeling committee on reception are up to their business, and deserve credit.

Barney Droll, president of the St. Louis association, loomed up in the parade last evening.

Secretary Chris Brokate is one of the city assessors of St. Louis, and for several years was meat inspector.

Henry Dandestill, of Evansville, Ind., is a pork packer in that city and is very quiet. "Still water runs deep."

W. H. Glassmeyer, of St. Louis, is one of the solid butchers of that city and believes in butchers' associations.

The large cities have butchers as follows: New York, 6,000; Brooklyn, 3,500; Chicago, 4,200; Philadelphia, 3,700; and St. Louis, 1,100.

M. H. Mullin, the champion beef dresser of the world, is at the McLean, with his assistant, W. Hazzard. A match is to be arranged with an English butcher for $10,000 a side.

Vice President Conrad Klingelhoefer, of the national association, arrived with the Evansville, Ind., delegation and thinks this will be the banner convention. "Connie," old boy, hold your tongue about some things.

Apollinaris

"THE QUEEN OF TABLE WATERS."

EACH GENUINE BOTTLE BEARS TWO YELLOW LABELS, ONE PICTORIAL, THE OTHER, ROUND THE NECK, WITH "APOLLINARIS" ACROSS A RED TRIANGLE. THE CORK IS BRANDED "THE APOLLINARIS COMPANY, LIMITED."

Ira W. Stillman, of Danbury, Conn., is one of the pioneer butchers and a great worker for the association. He is also a fluent orator of ability.

William M. Akin, jr., of Evansville, Ind., is a large pork packer, and can tell a good story. He is also a prominent politician on the Democratic side.

Treasurer Louis Schaefer, of the national association, is the largest retail butcher in St. Louis. He has a fine tenor voice, and is a typical butcher, fat, good natured and jolly.

ANCIENT ORDER HIBERNIANS.

The State Convention Meets at Charleston, W. Va., To-day.

To-day will be interesting in the history of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of this state, as the sixth biennial convention of the order will convene at Carpenter's hall in Charleston. The visiting delegates will be banqueted at the St. Albert hotel.

Ohio county's delegation is made up as follows: W. F. Weir and Thomas Owens, state officers; E. P. Hughes, county delegate, and M. B. Bailey, James A. Fitzsimmons, Miles J. Sweeney, Thomas M. Doyle and James McGinley, division officers. Special rates have been secured on the Ohio River railroad, and the St. Albert hotel at Charleston will give special rates to delegates and visitors during the convention.

Marshall county's delegation will be composed of Bernard Ward, county delegate; Michael Dolan, Frank Toner, Patrick Haskins, W. Casey and Thomas P. Deegan.
